

PROHIBITIONISTS WIN WANTS LOCAL OPTION

Movement to Make All Dry States
Literally So — Constitutional Amendment Reported Favorably.

Prohibition took a step forward yesterday in both branches of Congress.

In the Senate, drastic amendments to the Postal Appropriation bill were agreed to which would make criminal the importation of liquor into states which prohibit its manufacture and sale for beverage purposes, and which would exclude advertisements from the mails in states which legislate against such advertising.

On the House side, the national prohibition constitutional amendment was favorably reported from the Judiciary Committee, with a prediction by Chairman Webb that it would be passed within a week.

The amendment to the Postoffice Appropriation bill to make it a crime to ship liquor into prohibition states was added by Senator Reed, of Missouri, to the Jones amendment barring newspapers or other publications or letters and postal cards containing liquor advertisements from the mails in states which have laws against such advertising. It was adopted after brief debate by a vote of 45 to 11 by the Senate, sitting as committee of the whole.

The Reed amendment, which awaits a final vote in the Senate proper, is as follows:

"Whoever shall order, purchase, or cause liquors to be transported in interstate commerce except for scientific, sacramental, medicinal, or mechanical purposes into any state, or territory the laws of which state or territory prohibit the manufacture or sale therein of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, and for any subsequent offense, shall be imprisoned not more than one year."

The effect of this provision, if finally accepted by the Senate and agreed to by the House, will be to make all prohibition states bone dry. It will operate against provisions in various states permitting importation of limited amounts of liquor for individual consumption.

The Jones amendment to bar newspapers and other liquor advertisements from the mails in states having anti-liquor advertising laws attached the same penalties as provided in the Reed amendment. Under this provision, no newspaper, pamphlet, letter, postal card, circular or publication of any kind containing liquor advertisements could be mailed into the dry states. To prevent prosecution of innocent persons, the measure explicitly states that "if the publisher of any newspaper or other publication or the agent of such publication or if any dealer in such liquors or his agent shall knowingly cause liquor advertisements to be mailed in violation of the proposed law, he shall be guilty of violating the law."

Representative Randall, of California, announced the passage of the Jones amendment in the House yesterday, and gave notice that he would ask the House to concur in the amendment when the bill is returned from the Senate.

Banks Knocked Out Again When He Invokes Ouster Law to Displace Prohibition Commissioner.

Because the reasons submitted were not deemed sufficient in law, the ouster petition filed against Prohibition Commissioner Sidney Peters was yesterday afternoon rejected by Judge Richardson, of the Richmond hustings court. The charges were lodged by B. A. Banks, of Norfolk, after the governor had refused to consider them.

As was stated in yesterday's Gazette, application for a charter for the Liberal League of Virginia soon will be filed with the state corporation commission, according to Mr. Banks, who is a Norfolk lawyer, who says that it aims will be to fight for the restoration of local option in this state. "There comes a time when honest indignation can no longer be kept in restraint," Attorney Banks, is reported to have said, after filing an ouster complaint in hustings court against Prohibition Commissioner Peters. "And I am far from being alone in this attitude. I hear open expressions on every side, and I know that there is a large smouldering element hostile to the arbitrary acts of high officials and their multitudinous subordinates in the administration of the prohibition laws."

Banks' court petition is said to be identical with that which he filed recently before Governor Stuart asking for Peters' removal from office. The governor, it will be recalled, denied the petition on the ground that the evidence offered was inadequate. Banks alleges that Commissioner Peters was guilty of willful misconduct in office in placing certain so-called soft drinks under the ban and then directing his men not to proceed against merchants and dealers in the beverages until a certain specified date.

Banks served a term in the legislature several years ago from Norfolk. After his election, Mayor Riddick, of that city, his bitter political enemy, made an unsuccessful effort to prevent him from taking his seat by alleging that he was not a properly naturalized citizen of the United States.

The journey from Berne was without incident. The French Government placed two cars at the disposal of the party, attaching them to a regular train. Mr. and Mrs. Gerard are stopping at a hotel.

Mr. Gerard had a long talk with Mr. Sharp at the Embassy yesterday. He probably will be received by distinguished representatives of the French Government, and will meet some of the most important personages at a dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Sharp are arranging.

DOG BURNS TO SAVE FAMILY.
Members of Headless Household.

Milwaukee, Feb. 16.—He was just a plain dog, part collie, part setter, and the rest unidentified, but he gave his life in a vain attempt to warn the family of the burning of the house.

Dennis Kugler, the 17-year-old boy who claimed the dog as his pet, is in the city hospital, dying. Mrs. E. Kugler, the mother, and four other occupants were carried out by firemen. Dennis was the last to be carried out.

The firemen found the dog dead in the doorway. He had barked furiously to awaken the family, and nearly scratched a hole through the door before succumbing. Mrs. Kugler said she had seen the dog and heard him bark, but she was too late to save the family.

The fire was caused by a gas leak. The family was sleeping in the house. The dog was the only one to escape. The fire was extinguished by the firemen. The house was a total loss. The family is now in the city hospital. The dog was the only one to escape.

NATION UNITED, HE SAYS.
Heflin Pleads for Stalwart Americanism at City College Banquet.

Baltimore, Feb. 16.—The call to a stalwart nationalism was sounded vigorously last night at the thirty-second annual dinner of the Alumni Association of the City College, which was held at the Emerson. Congressman J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, one of the most eloquent men in the House of Representatives and one of the staunchest supporters, President Wilson, has in Congress, made an impressive appeal for a wiping out of all distinctions of section, class and race, and for an unbuilding of a coherent and powerful Americanism.

He told in the first part of his speech of the almost universally accepted belief in the early days of the country that sovereignty resided in the several states and that they could withdraw from the Federal body the powers which had been delegated to it. He quoted the late Charles Francis Adams, of Massachusetts, to the effect that the Federal Government was a "league of states."

The Warrenton Times yesterday says: "Colonel J. Donald Richards spent Wednesday in Alexandria."

The Washington Star yesterday evening said: "The Drama League Players made the 'hit' of their career with the presentation of three one-act plays at the Wilson Normal School Wednesday evening, putting on an allegory, a drab character study and sparkling satire with such deft touches that the audience decided to move 'down town' for their next performance. The three plays, 'Cathleen ni Houlihan,' 'James and John,' and 'Suppressed Desires' are to be given in the Alexandria Opera House tomorrow night. Not alone was the audience in Washington delighted with the finish of each of the totally different plays given by the various actors, but also with the general ensemble of the evening, as revealed, in stage setting, costuming and a certain artistic atmosphere which has been striven for by the players. The Free Kindergarten Association is indeed fortunate in securing these well known players to give them this benefit in Alexandria, and it is hoped the house will be crowded in appreciations of such talent. Tickets can be procured from members of the board or at Mr. Warfield's drug store."

New Grand Master an Alexandrian. As is Also District Deputy Grand Master of First District.

At the closing session of the Grand Lodge of Virginia Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, held yesterday afternoon at the Masonic Temple, Richmond, James Alston Cabell declined re-election as grand master, and, as was stated in yesterday's Gazette, was succeeded by Henry Knox Field, of Alexandria, who was deputy grand master. The action of Grand Master Cabell in declining a second term in favor of Deputy Grand Master Field, was looked upon as a most gracious act on his part and for which he was highly commended. Other officers in line were promoted, and James H. Price, of Richmond, was elected grand junior deacon.

The new officers of the grand lodge are:

Henry Knox Field, of Alexandria, grand master.
Earnest L. Cunningham, of Newport News, deputy grand master.
Sol Cutchins, of Richmond, grand senior warden.

William W. Galt, of Norfolk, grand junior warden.
Fred Pleasant, of Richmond, grand treasurer.

Joseph V. Bidgood, of Richmond, deputy grand treasurer.
Charles A. Nesbitt, of Richmond, grand secretary.

John F. Mayer, of Richmond, deputy grand secretary.
John S. Bettinson, of Tidewater, grand senior deacon.

Master deputy grand master for the several districts were subsequently appointed. J. E. W. Timmerman, of Alexandria, was named for District No. 1.

"SPOT" PAYS DEBT OF NATURE.
Canine Which Had For Years Been an Attache of the Hook and Ladder Truck Gone to His Reward.

The large spotted dog, which had long become so "corrupt" that it moved with difficulty at midday the Relief Hook and Ladder, was, as Prince street, has passed out of the land of the living, and its owner, John Clapton, as well as others who are members of the company, are sorrowful. Shortly after ten o'clock this morning a funeral cortege passed north on Fairfax street, its objective being a selected spot in the extreme northeastern section of the city where "Spot" was committed to the earth in a grave which had previously been prepared. The funeral was in charge of a delegation of the Relief Company, and the wagon was used as the hearse upon which was inscribed his age and time of death, which occurred at five o'clock, this morning.

"Spot" was about fourteen years old, and had long been regarded as an adjunct of the Alexandria fire department, responding to alarms until he became paralyzed with years, obese and unable to run as in his younger days.

Yesterday he refused food and paid no attention to carresses or kind words, when it was apparent the shadow of death was drawing near, and that a lodge of sorrow would be held within a few hours to lament the departure of the faithful attache.

The above brings to mind another canine whose death it was to rue to fires. He was known as "Rock," and belonged to the late George W. Casson, who many years ago lived on the southeast corner of Gibson and Fairfax streets. "Rock" was also an attache of the Relief Company, when that organization had charge of a fire engine. This dog could distinguish a fire bell from all others, and often while dousing in the "Tunneltown" when he heard alarm he would jump up and make for the Relief house, where he would take hold of the engine and of the rope attached to the reel and go with the men to the fire.

"Rock" always appeared in pairs on the Twenty-second of February. He died at the outbreak of the civil war.

NEW GRAND MASTER.
While it was generally assumed that Mr. Henry Knox Field, of Alexandria, would be elected Grand Master of the Masons of the State of Virginia at the meeting this year of the grand lodge in Richmond, the telegram from the capital city announcing his selection received in this city yesterday afternoon was read with enthusiasm by every member of the craft here, being regarded as a fit tribute to another Alexandria Mason who had devoted much of his time and thought to this time-honored institution.

Mr. Field is the second Alexandria man who has been elevated to this high and honored position during the past third of a century. The late Joseph William Henry Lambert, Past Master of Alexandria-Washington Lodge, preceded Mr. Field. The latter is a Past Master of Andrew Jackson Lodge; hence both lodges of this city have been honored by having members elevated to the position of Grand Master.

Mr. Field from early manhood has taken a prominent part in Masonry, and he has in church and other organizations. Although actively engaged in business pursuits and always in the front rank of movements to expand Alexandria's commercial importance he has devoted much of his time to matters of interest to the craft he represents, and the Grand Lodge of Virginia, like the people of his native city, have justly appreciated his work.

Although burdened with many responsibilities, Mr. Field has for years been a member of the City Council of Alexandria. Entering the Board of Aldermen some time ago, he was soon made chairman of the finance committee, a position requiring a cool and practical head and much labor. He performed his duties faithfully and satisfactorily at a time when two parties were in Council who entertained diverse ideas concerning public improvements. He kept the middle of the road until the waters subsided. He was later chosen President of the Board of Aldermen by a unanimous vote, and held the position until he disfranchised himself by moving out of the ward he represented. The citizens of the Second ward, into which jurisdiction he moved, determined that he must still remain a city father, and he was soon back in Council, and is now a member of the Common Council.

While members of the Masonic Lodges of Alexandria rejoice with him, the citizens generally are enthused over the testimonial accorded one of their most popular citizens.

THE TREATY OF 1799.

Germany's abortive effort to make Mr. Gerard reaffirm the treaty of 1799 becomes more absurd than ever the more that treaty is examined, as the Baltimore Sun observes. Article XII of the treaty, which provides that the merchant vessels of either Prussia or the United States shall have free access to the ports of any nation with which the other shall be at war, has heretofore been published in the Gazette. Article XII of the treaty is even more significant because it deals specifically with munitions and other articles of contraband. It reads, in part: "And in the same case of one of the contracting parties being engaged in war with any other power, to prevent the difficulties and misunderstandings that usually arise respecting the merchandise of contraband, such as arms, ammunition and military stores of every kind, no such articles shall be carried in the vessels or by the subjects of either party to the enemy, nor shall the other be deemed to be in a position to induce confiscation or condemnation and a loss of property to individuals. Nevertheless, it shall be lawful to stop such vessels and articles, and to detain them for such length of time as the captors may think necessary to prevent the inconvenience or damage that might ensue from their proceeding, paying, however, a reasonable compensation for the loss such articles occasion to the proprietors; and it shall further be allowed to use in the service of the captors the whole or any part of the military stores so detained, paying the owners the full value of the same, to be ascertained by the current price at the place of its destination. But in the case of a vessel stopped for articles of contraband, if the master of the vessel stopped will deliver out the goods supposed to be of contraband nature, he shall be admitted to do it, and the vessel shall not in that case be carried into any port, nor further detained, but shall be allowed to proceed on her voyage. It is clear that Germany's idea was to secure the reaffirmation of such clauses of this treaty as suit her present purposes and abandonment of those which do not. Which is an other delightful illustration of the way the German mind works. But what are treaties to Germany? Her course at the beginning of the war is an answer. The repudiation of that country's assurances in regard to the submarine warfare made to the United States is another indication that Teutonic promises or stipulations cannot be relied upon.

A GERMAN BULLY.

Americans arriving in Paris from Berlin, who were in a position to see what was taking place behind the scenes, regard General von Ludendorff, the first quartermaster general of the German Imperial Army, as the most vital person in the small group surrounding Emperor William, responsible for the German policy.

Americans whose business in Berlin was to study the springs of action of the German Government say they knew that General von Ludendorff dislikes Americans and has contempt for their military strength; that is, while aware of their potentialities, yet so far as any organization and application of them is possible, they could not, in the opinion of the German Quartermaster General, be brought to bear upon the present war. This descendant of Goliath of Gath will find his David sooner or later. He was doubtless one of the German war party who told the Kaiser over two years ago that England would not fight, as it was a nation of shopkeepers. The Teutons have found, to their sorrow, that they will fight. Von Ludendorff's contempt for the United States might have been expected. Like many other Germans, he strangely supposes that all other peoples of the earth are far behind his country in everything.

When Greece was at her zenith that nation looked upon all other specimens of the human race as barbarians; hence, the words so often encountered in ancient history, especially the New Testament, "The Greeks and the Barbarians." They imagined only specimens of the Hellenic race would fight. But the dreams of universal empire entertained by the son of Philip of Macedon vanished when that scourge of ancient civilization died in a drunken debauch in Babylon. The Teutonic shadows have been lengthening for some time.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Convincingly emphatic and final was the decision of the House yesterday to stand firmly behind its proposal of a horizontal raise of 5 and 10 per cent in the pay of all government employees. Two record votes were taken. The first was 215 to 130 as against the Smoot amendment, approved by the Senate, and the second was 279 to 59, a clear majority of 220, as favoring the original recommendation of the House as incorporated in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

With Sugar at 40 cents a pound and scarcely any to be had even at that figure, grocers and bakers in Washington last night admitted that the city is in the throes of a sugar famine, with little hope of immediate relief. The German revolution and a strike on the part of workers in the large refineries of Philadelphia and New York, which has been on since February 3, are blamed.

A Vienna dispatch says that Emperor Charles of Austria was written a letter to Field Marshal Archduke Frederick, placing him second in command of the Austro-Hungarian army. The archduke was previously commander-in-chief, but the emperor has taken over the supreme command and now is staying at main headquarters. The Austrian emperor has appointed the German emperor grand admiral of the Austro-Hungarian navy.

An interesting feature of the inauguration was yesterday made public when it was definitely announced that Mrs. Wilson will be near the President when he renews the oath of office on the east front of the Capitol on March 5. Some time ago it was stated that Mrs. Wilson would follow the precedent set by Mrs. Taft, when she accompanied the former President to the Capitol, but what caused interest yesterday was the announcement that Mrs. Wilson will have a seat in the stand near her husband when he takes the oath of office administered by Chief Justice White.

Because the Rev. John D. Hollister, Methodist Episcopal minister at Kasson, Minn., attended a public dance and then preached a sermon on it the town is all wrought up. The Rev. Mr. Hollister says he is going to save Kasson's other half by mingling with it.

Richard W. Bolling, brother-in-law of President Wilson, retired from the stock brokerage house of F. A. Connolly & Co., yesterday and his departure from the concern is directly traceable to the "leak" inquiry being made by the House Committee on Rules.

A curious phenomenon was a sudden blizzard that struck Jefferson City, Mo., people who had been skating on the Missouri River. The mercury dropped from well up in the '60s to 14 below zero within fifteen hours, and ice on the streams and ponds formed so rapidly that many fish were imprisoned in the ice and are still solidly embedded.

The Cuba revolt is said to be off, the government having the situation well in hand.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Suffering from a nervous shock and severe bruises on the body as the result of being deposited violently on the ground when the cabin in which she was riding was split in two by a street car of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Thomas Bolling, of Richmond, a relative of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, was taken to the Grafton Hotel, Washington. She was reported to be in such a nervous state that she could not discuss the matter last night.

The British steamer Turakina, fifteen days out from Plymouth, England, arrived yesterday at Newport News with 200 passengers after barely escaping destruction from a German submarine and a mine, passengers say. She is bound for Wellington, N. Z., and has on board ten British army officers going home on sick leave. Passengers state that the Turakina stole out of Plymouth harbor on the night Germany declared her program of unrestricted submarine warfare with all lights out, taveling far off the regular course by order of the British admiralty. A British steamer three hours behind the Turakina was torpedoed and sunk, the passengers say.

There has been no announcement of the action, but the government's marine observers at both Cape Henry and Sand Key, Fla., have been instructed to discontinue making public the names of vessels passing their posts. The State Department is understood to have requested the order so as to prevent the spreading of information of value to German submarines seeking to destroy ships bound from American ports to Europe. So far there has been no general order to custom houses to stop making public clearances and sailings. Shipping interests have suggested this step and it is understood to be under consideration.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The aggressive British campaign along the Ancre and to the north continues to develop. Southeast of Grandcourt, another small advance was made and a few prisoners taken. Fifteen miles farther north in the region of Arras, they penetrated into German defenses to a depth of 250 yards and reached the third line positions. Near Messines a German detachment fought its way into British trenches, but was expelled by a vigorous counter-attack. In Lorraine near Baccarat, the Germans organized for a local attack which was prevented by a strong French artillery fire.

After having been halted in Mid-Atlantic by a German submarine and forced to take aboard the crew of 22 of a French bark sunk by the submarine, the Norwegian ship Storli has arrived in Portland, Me. The commander of the Storli was warned that the next time his vessel was sighted by a German submarine, she would be sunk, whether laden or sailing in ballast.

Indiana liquor men are beginning to prepare for the future use of breweries and distilleries in the State in order that they may not suffer financial ruin when the State-wide prohibition law becomes effective, April 2, 1918. Some of the breweries will be used for the manufacture of fertilizer, while others will be employed in making condensed and evaporated milk.

Ruth Cruger, a pretty 17 year old school girl, has been missing from her home in New York since Tuesday. The girl left her home at noon to get a pair of skates sharpened. Detectives have found that she left the skates at a store at 1 p. m. and started home. That was the last seen of her.

Denial is made by Dr. Elwood E. Kirby, the physician in charge of Harry K. Thaw, who is confined to St. Mary's Hospital in Philadelphia, that the Pittsburgh millionaire is a physical and mental wreck. The physician states that Thaw, while somewhat weakened from loss of blood and not as clear mentally as might be hoped, is showing general improvement and will be able to leave the hospital in a few weeks, unless unforeseen complications set in.

It is learned that Thaw will appear before the New York courts immediately upon his recovery from his self-inflicted wounds, to answer to the indictment charging him with having beaten Frederick Gump, Jr., of Kansas City.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Fears are entertained at Newport News for the safety of the British steamer Romney, more than one week overdue from Liverpool. The Romney carried a cargo of horses to Liverpool and had on board a large number of white American muleteers.

Within the next ten days, Cape Henry and Fisherman's Island will be fortified with 6-inch guns, which will sweep Chesapeake Bay. A squad of coast artillerymen from Fort Monroe began work yesterday on the platforms for the guns. The guns will have a range of from 5 to 9 miles.

The discovery of dynamite in a large quantity of coal intended for use on allied merchant ships and American naval vessels has caused extra precautions to be taken by inspectors at the Norfolk and Western piers at Lambert's Point. The coal is brought to Norfolk from West Virginia mines, and hundreds of thousands of tons is dumped into foreign and domestic ships every month. Much of this coal is used by the United States Government for its battleships, colliers, and other vessels.

SCENES AT INAUGURATION.

Fireworks Display on Grounds of Washington Monument will be on Grand Scale.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Suggestions of the terrific battling in the afternoon attacks on Verdun by the Germans and the equally thunderous roar and illumination of the French response will be given in the fireworks display on the grounds of the Washington monument south of the White House the night of March 5, following the second inauguration of President Wilson and Vice President Marshall. The din of the "curtain of fire" from big guns and little ones on the Somme front, with the accompanying illumination from searchlights and rockets, will be suggested by the final feature of the exhibit of pyrotechnics when nine hundred shells will volley in salute.

The realism of modern warfare will be pictured in fire by soaring airplanes from which blazing bombs will be cast by the birdmen. Wierd effects will be produced by imitation shrapnel bursting in midair and by startling illuminating effects. There will be suggestions of battles in the clouds and naval fights at sea.

For the convenience and comfort of visitors there will be tiers of seats in the ellipse south of the White House from which an excellent view of the exhibition may be had. President Wilson and party will witness the display from the south portico of the Presidential Mansion.

Reports received by Col. Robert N. Harper, chairman of the inaugural committee, from cities, towns and rural localities, indicate a great influx of visitors to witness the inauguration ceremonies and participate in the patriotic demonstration to be staged as an expression of confidence in President Wilson's course in the acute situation with Germany. It is the opinion of those who are managing inaugural arrangements that the present international flurry will bring many people to Washington to see Uncle Sam in his war paint.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

Run Down as She Tries to Take Short Cut to Station.

Philadelphia, Feb. 16.—While taking a short cut from the home of relatives to Somerton station, on the Reading Railway, late Wednesday night, Mrs. Bessie Priestly, 4 years old, of Trevoise, Bucks county, was killed by an express train. Her body was found later by a track-walker. The police learned Mrs. Priestly had been visiting her brother, J. H. McMenamin at Bustleton, and was on her way to the station when she stepped in the path of the train. The body was sent to the woman's home in Trevoise.

Rules and regulations laid down both by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the American Car Service Commission, for the relief of the freight car shortage, having failed, 30 railroad executives yesterday entered a gentlemen's agreement to send empty cars west and clear out the congestion at North Atlantic terminals.

Fessel Carrying Contraband, and Manned by Americans. Will Leave Brooklyn Today.

New York, Feb. 16. — The first American steamship manned entirely by Americans to defy U-boat perils since the recent German decree, cleared for Havre today. The vessel is the freighter City of Puebla, 2,624 tons, owned by the Harvey Steamship Company.

The freighter's cargo consists exclusively of merchandise declared contraband. At Pier No. 26, Brooklyn, where the ship is lying, the last of 2,700 tons of cotton, copper and spelter was loaded last night.

The question of the arming of the vessel had not been settled last night. Manager McGill, of the steamship line, declared the State Department had been communicated with, but that the request for guns and gunners had not been complied with.

"But we will sail — guns or no guns," he said.

The City of Puebla will sail with a crew of 30 Americans. She will be commanded by Captain John E. Weller. Everything connected with the venture will be American.

Besides going to the munition ports of Havre and carrying contraband, the Puebla will defy German orders by omitting the "barber pole" stripes of paint on her sides, which have been specified.

She will have two American flags painted large, and will fly the national flag fore and aft. The vessel is 320 feet in length, and was owned formerly by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

(The City of Puebla is the fifth American ship to sail from this port since the latest U-boat campaign started, on February 1. The others were the Dochra, the Orleans, the Rochester and the freighter Owego. The last sailed on Monday.)

Representative Andrew Jackson Montague, of Richmond, who is a former Governor of Virginia, has been elected president of the American Society for Judicial Settlement of International Disputes to succeed Theodore Marburg, of Baltimore.

The resignation of Judge George M. Harrison, for 22 consecutive years a member of the Court of Appeals, was received at the Governor's office yesterday and will have the consideration of Governor Stuart upon his return from New York tomorrow morning. Judge Harrison's resignation is effective March 1.

Prominent among those mentioned as probable successors to Judge Harrison are Richard Evelyn Byrd, former Speaker of the House; Judge Henry W. Holt, of Staunton; Judge T. N. Hass, of the Twenty-fifth circuit; Judge Robert G. Southall, of Amelia, and Prof. William M. Lyle, of the University of Virginia.

This Little Woman Gains 5 Pounds On One Bottle

Another Thin, Nervous, Pain-Backed Woman Restored to Health.

In this age the public is accustomed to strange and unusual occurrences and the newspapers are filled with sensation after sensation, but in spite of this the story of a thin, nervous, pain-racked little woman, almost giving up in despair and wasting away from day to day, would hardly be believed if this paper did not state, the name, facts and street address to prove the remarkable statements in his case.

Mrs. N. Herfurth, of 619 Park road, Washington, in a signed statement says that she has gained five pounds in weight after being practically an invalid for years and unable to attend to the smallest duties, after taking one bottle of the great herbal remedy Dresco. This lady is well known and tells the story of her own free will and accord and many of her friends and neighbors are also in possession of the fact. "For years, she says, I have suffered from constipation, headaches, pains in my back and limbs, rheumatism, so nervous I could not sleep, coated tongue, bad taste in my mouth, and after eating my stomach would get sour and fill up with gas, with a burning sensation. I was going down all the time and I know my husband was uneasy about me. One day he bought home a bottle of Dresco and I began taking it; am feeling better than I have for many months and I weigh five pounds more now when I started taking it. I am on my second now and shall continue it as it is the greatest medicine that was ever sold from a drug store. Dresco is sold by Ernest L. Allen, & Co.
